A FRIEND OF GETTYSBURG.

P. H. GLATFELTER, YORK CO.,
PASSES AWAY.

The Most Liberal Benefactor of Gettysburg College Succumbs
After a Brief Illness.

Philip H. Glatfelter of Spring Grove, York Co., and one of the best friends, if not the best, that Gettysburg College ever had, died on last Thursday afternoon after a brief illness, lacking one month of being 70 years of age. The week before he had gone to transact business in Philadelphia, and became suddenly ill in city with what seemed to be an attack of vertigo. He returned home at once and was so ill that he was required to take his bed and his condition rapidly grew worse. It was a general break down ending in congestion of the brain.

He was York county's richest citizen and had done a magnificent work in the development of that county. He was born in York Co. in 1837 and grew to manhood on his father's farm there, aiding in its cultivation until he reached the age of 20 and was early trained to the habits of industry and enterprise, making his whole career as one of the ablest manufacturers in Pennsylvania.

In 1857 he became an employee of Loucks and Hoffman at Paper Mills, Md. He learned the art of paper making in all its phases. In 1863 he purchased the Spring Grove paper mill for $14,000. Its capacity then was 1500 pounds of paper a day, and by 1868 it had been increased to 4000. In 1874 he began the erection of buildings and furnished them with new machinery increasing the capacity of his plant. By 1881 the business had grown to such an extent that the capacity of plant must be further increased. He was ever alert for new processes and it was at this point he came to the conclusion that producing fibre or pulp from wood would be the coming fibre and he became one of the pioneers in the making of paper from wood and at the end of five years the out-put of his mills had jumped from 8500 pounds to 30,000 pounds every 24 hours, and the number of employees from 31 to 110.

When George W. Childs of the Philadelphia "Ledger," needed in 1887 a roll of paper 94 inches wide for two of the large perfecting presses he had installed, he found that the Spring Grove mill was the only manufacturing plant in the country that could furnish this width roll and for years he supplied the "paper required for the Philadelphia "Ledger" as well as for many other newspapers in Pennsylvania and Maryland. Later he discontinued making paper for newspapers and began to make book, lithograph and blank book paper for which his mills have become famous all over the country.

The cost of the mill erected in 1874 was $200,000. Improvements followed one another until the immense plant of to-day, covering five acres, is valued at $700,000. The process of making paper at this plant is completed from the raw material in three days. During the past years the plant has been annually transacting over $800,000 worth of business and the yearly disbursements to employees is over $125,000. The paper is sold in every section of this country, large quantities being furnished to the government printing office at Washington, and daily capacity of the plant is now 90,000 pounds.

In 1896 the plant was incorporated as the P. H. Glatfelter Company with a capital of $1,000,000, the entire stock being owned by P. H. Glatfelter, his son W. L. Glatfelter and his son-in-law, C. E. Moul.

In 1891 Mr. Glatfelter became president and principal owner of the York Manufacturing Co., with a capital of $100,000. Under his genius for management the plant was developed until to-day the plant of this company is worth $2,000,000. Its annual business runs into the millions and over a half million goes annually to its 1000 employees in wages. This company has had a most important part in developing the material progress of York and has become the largest plant of its kind in the world, the manufacture of ice and refrigerating machinery.

Mr. Glatfelter possessed rare ability for management and for hard work, attributing his success to the latter. He was diligent and faithful in every business relation and this gave him high standing in the financial world. He was enterprising and progressive. The model town of Spring Grove was practically created by him. He was always active in everything that concerned its welfare. He contributed largely to the first public school building and when that was too small gave thousands for the handsome school building now there. He contributed liberally to the church, furnishing most of the means for the erection of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Spring Grove, a score of years ago. At time of his death he had the plans completed for a $40,000 church building in the town. The Aldine Hotel of Spring Grove was erected by him for the purpose of furnishing good accommodations to the traveling public, and it was through him that Spring Grove to-day contains no licensed house for the sale of intoxicating liquors.

Mr. Glatfelter's generosity has not been confined to his native town, and Gettysburg College has been the recipient of his gifts, until to-day he stands as the largest benefactor the college has ever had. His gifts would total over $50,000. When the new Recitation Hall was proposed by President McKnight he made the building a certainty with a gift of $20,000. This was added to later. The college needs all ways found a ready and willing friend in him, and to the effort to raise a large fund during the last year he became a $10,000 contributor. He had been for many years a member of the Board of Trustees of Gettysburg College and his advice and help was invaluable.

A widow, one son and three daughters survive, W. L. Glatfelter, Misses M. I. and L. Romaine Glatfelter, of Spring Grove, and Mrs. C. E. Moul, of Hanover. The funeral took place on Monday morning at his home at Spring Grove and the paper mills and York Manufacturing plant ceased operations when his death was announced and did not resume until after the funeral.

Funeral.

The funeral of P. H. Glatfelter was as simple and impressive as his life. The body was placed in state in his home and more than 3,000 people paid their last tribute by their presence. The funeral service conducted by Rev. Martin L. Clare was private. Notwithstanding a request of the family that flowers be omitted many floral tributes were received.

After the funeral rites had been performed a memorial service was held in Trinity Lutheran Church. The Scripture lesson was read by Rev. Dr. Geo. W. Enders. Rev. Dr. S. G. Hefelbower, President of Gettysburg College followed with prayer. Rev. M. L. Clare expressed the great loss the community had sustained and the memorial address was delivered by Rev. Dr. J. A. Singmaster, President of Lutheran Seminary here. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. C. M. Stock Hanover. Among other ministers present were Revs. A. R. Steck and Fred Gotwalt of York, E. H. Clare of Abbotstown, and G. W. Diffenderfer of Carlisle.

Dr. Singmaster and Dr. Hefelbower were among the honorary pall bearers.

Mrs. Cordelia E. Stock, wife of John W. Stock, died at her home in New Oxford on Saturday, July 6, from cancer of the stomach aged 68 years and 22 days. She was a daughter of the late Henry and Elizabeth Weikert of Mountpleasant township, and after her marriage to Mr. Stock lived in that township until their removal about seven years ago to New Oxford. In recent years she has been almost totally blind and in all her suffering was never heard to complain. She was a member of the Lutheran Church of New Oxford and services were held in that church on Tuesday afternoon of last week by Rev. Geo. N. Lauffer, interment being made in the New Oxford cemetery, her four sons acting as pall-bearers. She leaves besides her husband, four sons and two daughters, Emory C. Stock of Baltimore, Wm. H. Stock of Mountpleasant township, John Stock of Germantown, Charles Stock of Pittsburg, Mrs. Samuel Kohler of Oxford township, and Miss Eva Cordelia Stock at home.

Amos Dresher, son of Wm. Dresher of Union township, this county, died at the home of his sister in Baltimore on July 5th, of typhoid fever, aged 24 years. The remains were brought to his home on Sunday, July 7, and funeral was held on the following day, services being conducted by Rev. J. A. Metzger, interment being made at St. Bartholomew's church. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dresher, four sisters and three brothers, Mrs. S. Carter, Mrs. S. W. Whitaker, Mrs. Charles O. Stout of Whitaker, Mrs. Herman Miller, Richard Dresher of Hanover, Fred. Dresher of Astoria, Ill., and Harry Dresher of Baltimore.

Miss Mary Sussoroff died last Wednesday at home of her sister, Mrs. Nellie Nagle, at Newtonville, Mass., after a protracted illness. She was the youngest daughter of the late Dr. J. L. Sussoroff of Chambersburg. She possessed many friends in this place. The funeral was on last Saturday afternoon at Newtonville. She is survived by one brother and two sisters, C. A. Sussoroff, Esq., of Chambersburg, Mrs. Nellie Nagle of Newtonville, Mass., and Mrs. H. C. Alleman of Philadelphia.

Mrs. George King died at her home in Mummaburg on July 5 having reached the advanced age of 96 years. The funeral was held on Saturday, July 6, with interment at Franklin church. Mrs. A. T. Myers of Cumberland township is a surviving daughter.

Mrs. Samuel Albert died at her home in Tynnow township on July 4th, aged about 96 years. Interment was made on Sunday, July 7, at Upper Bermudian church.

Owen Griffler died at his home in Menallen township on Wednesday, July 3, at the great age of 90 years.

The funeral was held on Saturday July 6, with interment at the Friend's Meeting House near Bendersville.

Mrs. Martha Erlich Shultz, wife of Wm. Shultz, died at her home in Latimore township from consumption on Tuesday of last week aged 29 years. She is survived by her husband and one daughter.

Charles Shaner died at his home in Freedom township on June 26 at the advanced age of 83 years, 4 months and 5 days. He had a most genial way in his greetings and had many friends all over the county. For a number of years he has been unable to walk without the use of canes but he was the same genial Charley. He served as a Jury Commissioner some years ago. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Chas. Reinwald of Emmitsburg on Saturday June 29th and interment made in the Evergreen Cemetery. He leaves two sons and five daughters, George Shaner of Richmond, Mo., Charles Shaner of Frizzelsburg, Md., Mrs. Amanda Trice, Mrs. A. W. Riley of Steelton, Mrs. Edward Tawney of this place, Miss Nettie Shaner of Baltimore and Miss Jennie at home.

Mrs. Harriet Middlecott Horner, widow of the late Ross Horner died in Baltimore June 25th aged about 80 years. She was born in this county and lived in this town for some years prior to her marriage and was a frequent visitor here.

NEW RAPID GROWING TIMBER

Introduced into Adams County By
S. S. W. Hammers.

The "Catalpa Speciosa" from the Wabash Valley, is the name of the new rapid growing timber. Mr. Hammers last winter secured a quantity of seed and planted the same in May, and to-day he has at least six thousand young trees about 6 in. in height. The railroads have invested millions in trees and land growing this timber for the future for railroad ties. "The Editor of Arboriculture of Ind., says that this timber will grow in six years large enough for posts and rails, and that they will last from 75 to 85 years exposed to any kind of weather.

The Indianapolis Star of Feb. 11, 1906 says that the American system of railways in that State planted one million "Catalpa" trees, and the farmers that many more.

Mr. Hammers proposes to start this enterprise in Adams County. The land owners, farmers, railways manufacturers should awake to the fact that trees must be planted if we would have lumber and ties and wood to continue the industries of our country a few brief years hence.

The Arboriculture says that shingles sawed from this "Catalpa Speciosa" timber will last from 60 to 75 years. Persons desiring to see this timber growing of one month's planting can call at Hammer's store, where they can also see growing from the seed more than one million young ginseng plants.

All the tracts where the saw mills have operated within the last 20 years should be planted with this timber, which storms will not uproot, and which will prove as a storm break, quicker than any other timber known. This timber will not grow on any land that corn will not grow. The advertisement of the trees will be found in another column.

Measuring Trolley Tracks

Edward A. Francis given into the keeping of Sheriff Colestock by Constable Wilson waived a hearing on the charge of jumping his board bill of $12.50 at Globe Hotel and was committed to jail for trial at the August Court.

The man's home is at Reading and in the language of the street he seems to have been in his belfry.

He had a check for $40 cashed at the Gettysburg National Bank, and this check has come back protested that Geo. W. Francis whose name was attached to check had no funds in the bank upon which it was drawn. The authenticity of the check is being inquired into. Geo. W. Francis is a reputable business man of Reading and if he acknowledges the check to be genuine when shown to him this week by Constable Wilson the prisoner may have some hope of having friends come to his relief in the matter of the board bill.

He was asked what possessed him to measure the trolley tracks and he said the idea just came to him so he came to Gettysburg to make a start with it.

So far little actual loss has been sustained. Penrose Myers has the souvenir goods that had been packed up. Penrose Myers also recovered the watch sold on credit. The young men who had been in the measuring business have had the experience of a week's work of a novel character. As to the checks the young men cashed, they have returned the money. The check of about $12 cashed by Mr. Amos Eckert has not been made good.

BAND CONCERT STAMPEDED

BY FIRE ALARM ON LAST SATURDAY EVENING.

An Arm and Hands of George
Eberhart Were Painfully Burned.

The Citizens Band of this place had gathered a large crowd in the Square on last Saturday evening, where they were holding a festival interspersed with music. The pavements were crowded and in the Square were many teams.

When the concert was at its height a cry of fire was heard and in a moment the alarm of the fire bell was sounded. The crowd in Square made a stampede for the scene of the fire. The fire apparatus started in the direction of the Eberhart garage on Washington Street. Finding there was no need for the apparatus it was returned to the engine house and concert and festival went ahead.

George Eberhart had been busy in his office, as Saturday evening is usually a busy time at the garage. A Mr. Redding who helps him was cleaning an automobile that had just arrived in a muddy condition. Gasoline was being used in the cleaning process. In some way the gasoline took fire and there was danger of damage to the automobile. George Eberhart rushed forward, caught hold of the gasoline vessel and going to the door threw it out of the garage. In doing this some of the gasoline fell on his shirt and instantly his shirt was in a blaze.

Mrs. Mary Timbers a colored woman passed at the moment and she thought quickly and acted as quickly throwing the shawl over her arm around Mr. Eberhart and smothering out the flames.

The left arm and both hands of Mr. Eberhart were painfully burned.

Fell From His Train.

Harry Caldwell, of York, freight conductor on the Baltimore and Highfield division of the W. M. R. R. met with an accident on last Friday afternoon, near the Seven Stars Station. He was in a box car at the time and motion of train threw him out of the car to the ground. When picked up by other members of his crew he was unconscious. Dr. H. M. Hartman, the W. M. R. R. physician here gave him necessary attention and same day he was sent to his home in York. He was somewhat bruised but seems to have escaped any serious injury from the fall.

Fruit Growers Meeting.

The Fruit Growers Association of Adams County held its 42nd regular meeting on last Saturday evening in Fruit Growers' Hall, Bendersville.

N. G. Miller, formerly Assistant Economic Zoologist addressed the Association on the subject "How Trees Grow" and was listened to attentively by an appreciative audience.

Chas. L. Osborne then discussed subject "Will it be Profitable to Plant a Sour Cherry Orchard Here."

It is desired that members of the Association present topics for discussion. The committee in charge of arranging the program for the meetings are desirous of having topics proposed by members so that those subjects in which members are most interested can be discussed and experiences exchanged.

Deserved Testimonials.

The handsome invitation and card sent out by the Peoples' Drug Store at the opening of the soda fountain season was noticed with high commendation in the July number of Bulletin of Pharmacy. A better testimonial may be said to be the increasing trade of the Peoples' Drug Store. Mr. Beales last week placed in his store two more tables, one of a tasty mission style, and it is a most attractive place to enjoy the refreshing drinks and cooling delicacies of the season.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING

Deardorff—Bacon

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Bacon, near Frankfort, N. J. on June 21. When their only daughter Miss Lulu Ethel was united in marriage to Harvey A. Deardorff, of Elizabeth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Deardorff of Mummaburg. The ring ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor Rev. John Hart, of Neshaun. The bridal party entered the parlor at high noon while the Lohengrin Wedding March was being played and stood under an arch of white daisies in the center of which was a large bell.

The bride was attired in white lace net over white silk elaborately trimmed with white satin ribbon. She wore a veil and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The bridesmaid Miss Rachel Webb of Hanover wore a white silk gown and carried pink carnations. Russell Wychoff, of Hanover, cousin of the bride was best man, and ushers were Charles Larydon and Arthur Brown of Bound Brook, cousins of the bride.

The groom's gift to the bride was a solitaire diamond ring. The bride gave her bridesmaid a beautiful pearl brooch. The groom's gift to the best man was a pearl stick pin. The organist received a gold hat pin and ushers were presented with silk handkerchiefs.

About 125 guests were present from Bound Brook, New Brunswick, Neshaun, Flagtown, Newark, New York, Elizabeth, Trenton and Hanover and an elaborate dinner followed the marriage ceremony. The bride received many handsome gifts of gold, silver, cut glass, table linen, china, rugs, furniture etc.

The bride and groom left on an extended wedding trip. They spent two weeks with the groom's parents at Mummaburg, leaving last week for Jamestown Exposition, and Washington, D. C. Upon their return they will make their home in Elizabeth, where the groom holds an important position with the Standard oil pipe line.

Rhodes—Byers.

On Thursday July 4th in Baltimore, J. Lewis Rhodes, son of ex-County Commissioner David Rhodes of Freedom township and Miss Blanche G. Byers, youngest daughter of the late Hon. Joseph Byers of Emmitsburg district, Frederick county, Md., were quietly married by the Rev. G. W. Miller, pastor of the First English Lutheran church of Baltimore, Md. The news when received was a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes' many friends, as no one knew of their intention, and while it was unexpected at this time yet all concede to the young people their unqualified congratulations and best wishes for future success.

Albright—Williams.

On July 8 at Gettysburg by Rev. Dr. Jacob A. Clutz, William R. Albright and Miss Annie A. Williams, both of Gettysburg.

Worley—Rinehart.

On July 13 at residence of minister by Rev. C. L. Baker, Geo. W. Worley of Hanover and Miss Ellen Maria Rinehart of Hamilton township.

Leg Broken in Two Places.

J. Edward Pfeffer, manager of the Drury Brick Plant at York, met with a serious accident on last Friday afternoon. Late in the afternoon he was caught by some belting with the result that one of his legs was broken in two places. He was at once moved to his home where the necessary medical attention was given. His mother, Mrs. Mary Pfeffer and Mrs. Huber Miller, a sister, went down to York on Saturday morning alarmed at the exaggerated reports that had been received and found he had not been as seriously hurt as first reported and that the attending physician gave encouragement of a speedy recovery.

Elks at Base Ball.

The Gettysburg Elks played the Hanover Elks in a game of base ball last Saturday and lost by a score of 15 to 5.

The line up of the Gettysburg team was D. Forney 2b., Wm. Grenoble c., C. Stock, s.s., A. Holtzworth 1b., C. Myers, p., Dietrich 1f, Taylor 1b., Dr. Hartman cf., and Keet, rf.

The Hanover Record roasts the game in a happy way with the following as to the Gettysburg players.

When the home defenders came to the bat they faced the happy combination of a man with a gray head, but whose activity belied that the gray hairs came from age. The twirler was "Charley" Myers, despatcher of the Western Maryland Railroad Company at Gettysburg. "Charley" pitched ball in the days when the batter went to base on seven balls and four strikes were out, and Saturday was the first time he officiated in the box for 22 yrs.

He used the old-fashioned under-hand ball coupled with a twist, and while the locals landed on some of them good and hard, several went out on strikes.

They kicked safely a number of times but failed to reach the watering trough until the third inning when Esquire Grenoble leaped the home ditch and laid down on the straw heap. By the way, "Billy" was made out twice in the first inning on two attempts at stealing provender at the second sack. It took several minutes to explain to the player that a runner must lay down after the first out, and slips don't go over in base ball.

"Billy" Grenoble's patent-leather pumps convinced the crowd that he was an aristocratic ball player.

"Allie" Holtzworth is like M. M. e. Patti—he has made his "farewell" appearance on the diamond—many times.

"Charley" Stock, of professional ranks, tried hard to keep his fellow Elks together. He faced the ball several times.

"Doc" Hartman wore a rain coat and when he made his appearance many of the spectators feared he was going to appear on the field in tights.

"Dave" Forney, an ex-Gettysburg Collegian, still has some ginger left, but "Dave" forgot to keep his eye on the ball and Newcomer touched him out after a slide to second—having stepped off the bag.

The Hanover Elks outclassed their visiting brethren—wounding them severely—yet after the game they played the part of the Good Samaritan—took them to their Home on Baltimore St.—pouring oil and wine into their wounds.

A return game will be played here.

HOW TO BUILD GETTYSBURG A TALE OF WHAT BUSINESS LEAGUES HAVE DONE.

Advertise the Town—Get Tourage—Exploit Our Attractions—How Home Merchants Can Win.

There may be those in Gettysburg who think all talk about a business men's league doing this old place any good is hot air. But then there are those who knock at every attempt to do things out of the beaten track. They would rather waste dollars' worth of strength and energy doing things in the old way or in any old way rather than adopt up-to-date methods and thereby conserve energy for what must be done.

The idea of Gettysburg doing nothing to exploit its own interest is almost beyond belief and the stranger stumbling into the place and seeing the great thing we have here which we are doing nothing to develop looks upon us in wonder and amazement. He says we have a gold mine all about us and when he sees us smile over his enthusiasm he again wonders whether the town hasn't softening of the brain.

Now, the exploiting of a town is nothing new, it has been intelligently and successfully done many times. It would only be something new for Gettysburg. The strangest thing is that when the tourage business is the greatest industry of the place that it has never been gone after like a business, but only enjoyed like a godsend.

On the other hand there is Atlantic City and last year over $10,000 was spent to exploit the place. If the tourist passed it by it would die, but to prevent either that or any attack of dry rot, the business men there organized for life and business. They went after conventions and secured for 1907 twenty-eight of them. They had a representative on the ground when the time came for conventions and organizations to vote for a place of meeting in the following year. They distributed 50,000 booklets in 1907 about the resort.

Another resort, a mountain resort of 2,000 inhabitants, in the Catskills, recently successfully advertised itself. Sixty of the business men put up the money unconditionally for a committee of six to spend and the results were far reaching and good beyond expectation.

They first resolved that "prosperity breeds prosperity" and went to work to cut out hard luck talk. Then large quantities of cards were secured giving a pretty picture of the place or some surrounding scenery with some description, urging that the place be visited. Every business man was provided with these cards and every letter that went out of that town contained a card urging tourage to the town.

Other cards were prepared telling of the advantages of the town as a place of residence and as a business town and distributed to those living near the place, who ought to be coming there to do their trading, to get their schooling, etc.

The league decided upon a bargain week and every merchant was urged to arrange special bargains for that week and the week was specially advertised in all the surrounding country and was a great success.

A booklet was issued of the town and its attractions and was scattered over a large territory. Why Gettysburg ought to have a folder in every railroad folder case in the country. Folders of other places and resorts are to be found in the cases, but Gettysburg is Gettysburg and the God of Battles is supposed to take care of it.

The league in the New York town spoken of, took up the task of neutralization of the effect of the advertising done by big mail order houses. They had the merchants sign a pledge agreeing to make an extra effort to keep business away from the mail order houses, by meeting the prices of those houses, quality for quality, and to show customers in what way better value was given than they could possibly get out of town."

The people were asked to agree to buy all needed supplies from the home merchants before sending out of town. They were only asked to try to buy from the home merchant and if he did not have the goods or asked too much money, there could be no complaint if order was sent out of the town.

Once in awhile we have met with a Gettysburg merchant who puts up an argument about advertising. If the merchants of this place who do little advertising were to spend a week in the post office and see the immense quantity of advertising stuff of mail order houses that pass through the office they would need no other or better reason to vigorously advertise all the time.

The catalogues of houses dealing in jewelry, furniture, hardware, groceries, dry goods, in fact every human want and desire fill the mails daily, weekly and all the time and the mass of them do not go to the merchant but to individuals to induce them to order direct.

The New York town referred to got busy advertising in the local papers and leaving nothing undone to get what their customers wanted and they discovered that the mail order house soon taboed the town in which they would have to spend money to get any trade. They discovered that the mail order man pushed his business along the lines of the least resistance and that when a town united to make their business unprofitable, they dropped the town and went elsewhere where the people were easier.

What other towns have done Gettysburg could do. The work will have to be done by a few but all the business men can unite to hold up their hands and furnish the means to accomplish the result—a better and a greater Gettysburg.

MORGAN AND THE STUTTERER.

Former Released at the Clever Retort of the Latter.

A young reporter on the New York Sun, who stuttered fearfully, was sent one day to try to get a statement from Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan.

"Who and what are you?" demanded Mr. Morgan.

In moments of surprise or nervous excitement the reporter's stammering always became acute, so he stood with jaws locked, vainly trying to speak.

Mr. Morgan began to fume, and finally he sputtered:

"What in the devil are you?"

The reporter's sense of humor did not share the clogging up of his speech, and, after much facial contortion, he managed to gurgle out:

"I-I-I—aaaaam an elocutionist."

Mr. Morgan saw the joke, he grimly relaxed and when the reporter's speech-consciousness returned he got the statement.—Saturday Evening Post.

A Calumny on Anglers.

"We fishermen," said Havelock Morton, California's famous fly caster, "are continually being accused of intemperance. The accusation is false. No intemperate man could ever cast a fly. Yet yesterday a friend of mine had the effrontery to say to me:

"You fishermen! You fishermen!"

"What's the matter now?" I asked scornfully.

"With a chuckle he declared that, out walking in the country, he had met an angler beside a brook and had said to the man:

"How can you tell the good places from the bad when you come to a stream?"

"By the bottles," the man answered.

"Wherever the most empty bottles are scattered is the best place."

Encouragement.

It is a great mistake to take a good action performed by some one else as a matter of course. If people would but realize that they are better served when they themselves are kind and considerate the world would be the better.

Never be too careless or too superior to give a word of praise, for a word of encouragement has the effect of a tonic upon drooping spirits and adds a new incentive to the worker.

Of course, injudicious praise is a mistake, but if work is badly done try to find some good point about it or point out the mistakes as kindly as possible.

Then and Now.

In the days of old when knights were bold and wore sheetiron shirts and vests, they battled for the right to hold fair maidens to their manly breasts. They went to war and risked their lives to get the girls they wished to win, and when they'd claimed them as their wives supported them through thick and thin. But in these days when every man appears to think he ought to try to get as wealthy as he can, and love is something he can buy, his wife's a partner that he takes in business for a year or two; then one or else the other breaks the ties and looks for something new.

Washington's Irish Army.

In a volume just issued by a Manhattan publisher, statistics compiled by the cleric author indicate among other data that three-fourths of Washington's army contained only Irish men or those of Hibernian descent. The statement is made that authoritative records prove that in a single regiment upward of 150 fighters each bore the Christian name, Patrick. The claim is also set forth that Gen. Warren, of Bunker Hill fame, came of Celtic ancestry.

Modern Artificiality.

We certainly should be downcast at the wholesale artificiality of the age. Most of the people one knows are in reality entirely different from what they seek to appear. To take anybody seriously is well-nigh a heinous offense, and it seems to be regarded as a much greater triumph to produce an imitation that "delects detection" than an enduring work of art. The classes are compounded of shame: the middle classes delight in them.—World.

Riverside Repartee.

The lone fisherman was having miserable luck, and the presence of a small boy did not contribute to his amiability. The youngster seemed greatly interested as the man impaled a struggling worm on a hook.

"What yer fishin' fer?" inquired the boy.

"Sardines," retorted the fisherman, testily.

"Ha!" granted the youngster, edging away. "That crooked thing on the end of yer line wouldn't take no price in a can opening contest."—The People's Weekly.

Stuffed Cabbage.

Select a head of cabbage, not too hard, boil for half an hour, put upon a platter to cool, then separate the leaves and fill with the following: One pound of chopped beef, one pound of chopped pork, three or four slices of stale bread soaked in milk, two eggs, one onion, one-half cupful of milk, parsley, salt and pepper.

Fill in a leaf at a time and fold. When finished tie the whole tightly with wrapping cord, boil slowly for two hours. When ready to serve, pour over melted butter.

What Might Have Been.

"The hand that rocks the cradle"—but there is no such a hand.

It is bad to rock the baby, they would have us understand.

So the cradle's but a relic of the former foolish days.

When the mothers reared their children in unscientific ways,

When they jounced them and they bounced them, those poor dwarfs of long ago—

The Washingtons and Jeffersons and Adamses, you know.

They warn us that the baby will possess a muddled brain

If we handle him or rock him. We must carefully refrain.

He must lie in one position, never swayed and never swung,

Or his chance to grow to greatness will be blasted while he's young.

Ab, to think how they were ruined by their mothers long ago—

The Franklins and the Putnams and the Hamiltons, you know!

We must feed the baby only by the schedule that is made,

And the food that he is given must be measured out and weighed.

He may bellow to inform us that he isn't satisfied,

But he couldn't grow to greatness if his wants were all supplied.

Think how foolish nursing stunted those poor weaklings long ago—

The Shakespeares and the Luthers and the Bonapartes, you know.

We are given a great mission; we are here to-day on earth

To bring forth a race of giants and to guard them from their birth,

To insist upon their freedom from the rocking that was bad.

For our parents and their parents, scrambling all the brains they had!

Ah, had they been fed by schedule, would they have been stunted so—

The Websters and the Lincolns and the Grants and Lees, you know?

Couldn't Lift Ten Pounds.

Doan's Kidney Pills Brought Strength and Health to the Sufferer, Making Him Feel Twenty-Five Years Younger.

Sick kidneys cause a weak, lame or aching back, and a weak back makes a weak man. Can't be well and strong until the kidneys are cured. Treat them with Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's the testimony of one man cured.

J. B. Corton, farmer and lumberman, of Deppe, N. C., says "I suffered for years with my back. It was so bad that I could not walk any distance nor even ride in easy buggy. I do not believe

I could have raised ten pounds of weight from the ground, the pain was so severe.

This was my condition when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They quickly relieved me and now I am never troubled as I was. My back is strong and I can walk or ride a long distance and feel just as strong as I did twenty-five years ago. I think so much of Doan's Kidney Pills that I have given a supply of the remedy to some of my neighbors and they have also found good results. If you can sift anything from this rambling note that will be of any service to you, or to any one suffering from kidney trouble, you are at liberty to do so."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Corton will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address: Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

THE DOOM OF NOBODY'S DOG.

The doom of Nobody's dog has been sealed. The day has come that sees the passing of the dog that is everybody's friend and owned by nobody. The yaller dog, the special favorite of no one in particular but who found a subsistence at the kitchen door of soft hearted people who could not turn away a hungry dog. This dog has been legislated out of existence. He must become somebody's dog or be exterminated by the constable. The Act of June 1 provides that every dog shall wear a collar with a tag stamped in raised letters "Dog tax for 1907 paid." This tag is furnished by the County Commissioners upon payment of 20 cents and the owner of the dog must pay for both tag and tax. If a dog is found at large without the tag the tax collector must notify the owner to pay tax and get tag and if the dog has no owner or the latter refuses or neglects to provide collar and tag, the dog must be transplanted by the constable and the county pays the cost of fifty cents for each transplanting. The duty of executioner is delegated to the constable and the act is silent whether he can deputize the rest of the community as a posse to rid the town of the collarless, tagless, taxless dog. The opinion is ventured if the work falls upon the constable alone and a new question is added to his report at each court whether there are any untagged dogs in his bailiwick that each and every one will answer "None that I know of."

RAILROAD INVESTMENTS.

The city papers these days contain many advertisements offering notes of railroads for sale. The railroads are needing money, they are raising it on short time notes, protected with collateral worth more than money borrowed making a gift edge loan. The Pennsylvania Railroad has raised millions in this way. These notes have been issued in denominations of $5,000 and upward and bear six per cent. interest. In view of the fact that there are millions of dollars invested in the country banks in special certificates at three per cent. and the great mass of this money is in certificates of small amounts it is curious that the railroads have not gone to the people of moderate means for these loans. They would find fifty people with $500 to invest where they now find one with $5,000. Offering nothing but absolutely good investments they would win the people and have their support. They would give an opportunity to the many to get more for their money than under present conditions and would strengthen their cause.

A CALL TO THE SOLDIER

WM. Hayes Grier, of Columbia, Pa., Secretary Fifth Reserve Association had addressed the following communication to his comrades and the veterans of Pennsylvania and every soldier with his relatives and friends ought to be able to join in the rallying cry.

To the Comrades of the Fifth Pennsylvania Reserves:—DEAR COMRADE:—At the late reunion of the Fifth Pennsylvania Reserves, held at Northum, Pa., on Wednesday, May 8th 1907, a resolution was unanimously adopted commending Senator Cochran, of Williamsport, for originating the bill to pension the old soldiers of the State, and calling for an appropriation of $1,000,000 for that purpose. His bill passed the Senate in that shape but when it reached the Committee on Appropriations, of which John O. Sheatz, of Philadelphia, was chairman, it was so overloaded as to make it obnoxious, and passed in such a condition that Gov. Stuart was compelled to veto it.

This same John O. Sheatz presided when the old soldiers were given a hearing before the committee and by his remarks and rulings gave evidence of the fact that he wanted to kill the bill. He succeeded in doing so by raising the appropriation to a figure that was altogether unnecessary, but it was done to enable him and his colleagues to say that they voted for the pension bill, and put the Governor in a hole.

This same John O. Sheatz is a candidate for State Treasurer, and it is now up to you and every other old soldier, and the kin of every old soldier, and every man who is really the friend of the old soldiers, to administer a stinging rebuke to this man Sheatz.

He is the first man, mainly responsible for the defeat of the State pension bill, that presents himself before you for your suffrage. Without regard to party, he is not worthy of your support. You will be no less a Republican, or a Democrat, by voting against him. Your first duty is to yourself and this is, or will be, your first opportunity to show whether you will permit pothouse politicians to play a fast and loose game with you.

Let your rallying cry be—"NO STATE PENSION FOR THE OLD SOLDIER, NO STATE TREASURER FOR JOHN O. SHEATZ."

Yours fraternally,
WM. HAYES GRIER,
Secretary Fifth Reserve Association,
Columbia, Pa. July 1907.

A BUSINESS LEAGUE.

If the hotel men of this place want the business men here to form a business league they should get busy and raise their share of the money for the purpose. The easiest thing to do is to hunt excuses for not doing what is expected of them. We earnestly ask every business man of the place specially the backward hotel men, to read the article on the second page how to build up Gettysburg. The methods mentioned are no experiments, they have been tried and have accomplished results. The town can help itself if it will, if the big majority will simply put up the money, and a small number do the work. The present is not a time for excuses but a time to make good, to organize for results that can be had as sure as two and two make four. Will the hotel men get busy and make good? Selfish reasons—their own good—ought to control them if they are not moved by any public spiritedness.

We acknowledge the receipt of a pamphlet containing the interesting account of the history of the Second Cavalry Division of the Army of the Potomac in the Gettysburg Campaign by Brevet Major Gen. David McM. Gregg read before the Pa. Commandery of the Loyal Legion of the U. S. in May 1907.

CONGRESSMAN HON. JAMES A. TAWNEY has our thanks for a copy of his memorial address delivered at Gettysburg on Memorial Day 1907, which has been issued in a very elegant and attractive booklet.

New Law on Sale of Feeding Stuffs.

An act passed by the General Assembly at last session and approved by the Governor on the 25th of May, 1907, makes some important changes in the law regulating the sale of feeding stuffs within the State. It provides that wheat and rye bran and middlings, or any mixture thereof, except when sold at the mill where made, must be accompanied by the name and address of the manufacturer and a guarantee that the same is pure. Mixed feeds, except chop made by grinding, and all condimental feeds must be accompanied by the name and address of the manufacturer and a statement of their protein and fat content, and also a statement of the several ingredients of which the mixture is composed. The minimum penalty for violating any of the provisions of the feeding stuffs law is raised from $50.00 to $100.00. An act to regulate the sale of Paris Green, providing for the collection and analysis of same and of the punishment of frauds in the sale and manufacture theory, was also passed which was approved by the Governor on the 25th day of May, 1907. The Secretary of Agriculture who is charged with the enforcement of these acts will be glad to send copies of the same to any person who will write for them.

On Saturday evening he had an audience of 500 people and sold almost $100 worth of his medicine. One citizen got rid of a tape worm 36 feet long and another of 5 stomach spiders.

Long Gash in Arm.

Jacob H. Baker, the Baltimore street shoemaker gave his left arm an ugly gash on Saturday while at his work in his shop at Wabash Hotel. He had a very sharp knife in his right hand and was cutting out a piece of sole leather when the knife slipped and made a clean cut in his left arm about four inches long and an inch to an inch and a half deep. The knife severed an artery and the wound spouted a great deal of blood before a tight band was put around arm about wound. Dr. Henry Stewart dressed the wound, tying the artery and putting in a number of stitches to close wound. Mr. Baker will be forced to take a summer vacation of short duration while the healing is in progress.

Board of Pardons Meeting.

The Board of Pardons will meet today, Wednesday, and among other cases will hear the application of Wm. Eyer for a commutation of the sentence of the death penalty to imprisonment for life. Unless the Eyer case is heard and decided before the Board adjourns, his fate may remain undecided until Sept. as it is expected that there will be no more meetings of the Board until that month.

No Place Like Gettysburg.

Great dissatisfaction has been expressed among the National Guard sent to Mt. Gettysburg this year. It is said fifty per cent of the soldiers encamped there will not re-enlist unless assured that they will never be sent to Mt. Gettysburg again.

The one place that always satisfies soldiers and officers is an encampment at Gettysburg. This is the place that should be made the permanent encampment ground, and the sooner this is done the better it will be for the guards, for there is no place like Gettysburg for the N. G. P.

S. S. Picnic.

The Sunday School of Christ's Lutheran Church will hold a picnic tomorrow, Thursday, at Pfoutz's meeting house. The congregation and all friends are invited to accompany the school. Carriages will leave the church at 8 o'clock a. m. and will carry all who attend the picnic free of charge.

A Veteran Visits Gettysburg.

Among the old soldier visitors to Gettysburg at this time is John Brown, now of Indiana, Pa., who with four other brothers were members of Co. 1, 4th New Jersey Regt. in the 6th Corps. He was wounded and his three brothers were all killed on the 24 day. He was not able to identify their graves in the National Cemetery and presumes they rest among the unknown.

His daughter accompanies him and they are guests of the Washington Hotel. He is a great admirer of Abraham Lincoln and says he has a picture of him in every room in his house.

Two Deaths.

Just before going to press information was received of the following deaths and will be noticed more in detail next week.

Noah Sheely, one of the largest fruit growers of Adams Co., died at his home in Franklin Twp. in his 70th year. He had been in failing health for last two years. Funeral from house to-morrow morning, Thursday, at 9 o'clock.

James Baker, son of Andrew Baker, of McKnightstown, died on Tuesday morning from hernia, aged 30 years. He was ill but a few days.

BARN RAISING.

Silver Run, July 15. Augustus Study had his new barn raised on Monday with help of about 75 men.

John F. Motter, of La Cananea, Sonora, Mexico, is spending a vacation of six weeks with his father at Littleton, old friends and relatives in this place and vicinity and Hanover. This is John's first visit to Maryland for a period of four years. He is manager of a large mine and is enjoying excellent health.

Elks Off to City.

Only one Gettysburg Elk is eligible to take part in the sessions of the Grand Lodge at the Academy of Music in Philadelphia this year, but a large number of the Elks of this place, many with their wives are in the city, exchanging greetings of "Hello Bill" and seeing the sights.

Exalted Ruler W. C. Sheely, Gettysburg's only eligible representative at the Grand Lodge Sessions, and Mrs. Sheely left on Monday morning for the city.

The Elks who have gone to Philadelphia so far learned are J. L. Williams, Esq., J. Donald Swope, Esq., C. Wm. Beales, Samuel M. Bushman, J. M. Bushman, W. E. Kapp, Max Davis and wife, Elias Dillfield, Wm. Grenoble, M. E. Zinn and wife, Dr. E. H. Markley, W. S. Schroder, John Ziegler, Prothonotary Chas. E. Deatruck, Geo. F. Young and T. F. Farrel.

Other citizens in Philadelphia this week are J. W. Eicholtz, John A. Menchey and Sam Bumbaugh and wife.

QUICK changes from hot to cold and back again try strong constitutions and cause, among other evils, nasal catarrh, a troublesome and offensive disease. Sneezing and snuffing, coughing and difficult breathing, and the drip, drip of the foul discharge into the throat—all are ended by Ely's Cream Balm. This honest and positive remedy contains no cocaine, mercury, nor other harmful ingredient. The worst cases are cured in a short time. GUARANTEED REMEDY FOR INDIGESTION.

Substantiating Statement by The People's Drug Store.

When a man comes into this store and calls for any particular indigestion remedy, we always give him what he asks for, but in case he leaves it to us we usually recommend Pepsikola tablets.

Here is a preparation we have been selling right over the counter for years, and from actual observation we know it must do good, and really does cure indigestion and dyspepsia or there would be a steady stream of people coming back for their money, as every 25 cent box is sold with the understanding that you must be decidedly benefited or there is nothing to pay.

You simply try Pepsikola tablets with the understanding that they will steady your nerves, improve your appetite, relieve wind belching coated tongue, sour stomach, fullness after eating, weakened energy, and other symptoms of indigestion or The People's Drug Store is ready at any time to pay back your money without the least argument.

The Charming Woman

is not necessarily one of perfect form and features. Many a plain woman who could never serve as an artist's model, possesses those rare qualities that all the world admires: neatness, clear eyes, clean smooth skin and that springiness of step and action that accompany good health. A physically weak woman is never attractive, not even to herself. Electric Bitters restore weak women, give strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, beautiful complexion. Guaranteed at People's Drug Store. 50c.

G. B. Burhans Testifies After 4 Years

G. B. Burhans, of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble." STUFFING NEEDLE CUSHIONS.

Wool, Cork Dust, Bran or Human Hair Will Do.

Fortunate does that woman consider herself who has a bit of clean wool with which to stuff her new needle cushion. It is so nice and light and lends itself so readily to manipulation. It makes such a smooth, neat cushion. It fills in at the corners so easily and fluffs out in the middle so beautifully. Ah, yes! It does all these pleasant things, but it is a delusion and a snare just the same, for it absorbs and retains moisture. Therefore needles that are kept in a wool-stuffed cushion rust sooner and worse than in any other kind.

Very fine cork dust is good because light and nonabsorbent. Bran is good, but not light. Sawdust is heavy and absorbent. Bran or sawdust are good for large cushions for the bureau, where one is constantly changing the pins, because it is heavy and does not permit the cushion to slide around very readily.

But for small cushions that are needed in one's work basket and in which some one needle may not be used for months the most satisfactory stuffing is human hair. It neither absorbs nor retains moisture and it is light and springy. Many women save their "combs" to be made over into some article for the coiffure. These same combs may be thoroughly washed (with a little ammonia in the water) and as thoroughly dried and they will be ready for use. Or the clippings of the children's hair may be utilized. Once having used a cushion stuffed after this fashion one generally cares for no other kind.

The Truth of It.

Blusters—I dare say. I do look mad. I understand Jigley says I'm the worst liar he ever saw.

Over Thirty-Five Years.

In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, dysentery and cholera infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment, and has for thirty-five years maintained that record. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them a greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by The People's Drug Store.

THE laying of the cornerstone of the new parochial school of St. Mary's church of McSherrystown, took place Sunday, July 14th.

I will mail you free, to prove merit samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart, or The Kidneys. Troubles of the stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—means Stomach Weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me to-day for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by People's Drug Store.

UNDER THE WHITE LIGHT

By ALBERT F. BONNEY.

(Copyright, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

"Lonesome, stranger?" A woman asked the question in a voice of such exquisite sweetness that I looked at her with surprised interest.

"Oh, so so," I replied. "I'm accustomed to being alone."

"Mining?" she asked.

"No," I replied.

"Punching cows?" I shook my head.

"Prospecting?" smiling at her own persistence.

"Government work. Surveying.
The new irrigation dam," I replied,
somewhat brusquely.

"Oh," all interest faded from her face.

Music and light. The sounds of harmony were loud and insistent, the illumination glaring, even blinding,
and in the white, blazing light men and women danced, talked and drank.
Not a pretty scene; still it satisfied
the crude longing of these rude men who, for the better part of the year, herded together in cow and mining camps, or, solitary and alone, prospected in the mountains for the mine which would make of them rich men, and enable them to—and there the dream usually ends. In a vague, unsatisfying way some of the younger men dream of a home of their own,
of domestic life amid other scenes,
yet it all ends under the white light with wine, women and cards, until the last dollar is gone. Year after year this goes on with changing actors, like the men I watched.

I had been sitting there alone, utterly alone, in that I knew no one, and like many other homeless strangers I lingered under the glare while the hours of the evening passed. The music had no charms for me, the dealer's invitation: "Make your game, gentlemen," held no temptation, though fortified by the sound of the ball as it whirled in the wheel, even the women of the place passed me by as uninviting until the hours had grown small, when one threw herself into the chair opposite me. After satisfying her curiosity, she sat watching the throng listlessly.

"There's quite a crowd here tonight," I remarked.

"There always is," she replied, carelessly.

Just at this moment a man passed us to whom my attention was attracted by the very charm of his personal beauty. While of a reckless, satanic type, there was so much of the lithe grace and symmetry of contour that I could but admire him; he was as grand as Lucifer, and as dark and virile.

"Who is that man?" I asked, turning to my companion, then shrink at the expression of her face. I had thought her beautiful as she leaned on the table questioning me, now I should hardly have recognized her.
Her big hazel eyes were grown black;
her cheeks burned scarlet; her lips were two threads of crimson between which her teeth gleamed, a line of pearl, her full bosom rose and fell swiftly, while her hands which lay on the table were clenched so hard that the knuckles were as white as ivory. Her eyes followed the man for a moment, then, unseeing, came slowly back to mine.

"Who is he?" I repeated. She started violently, then laughed shortly.
"That? Oh, that is Bill Tyrone," she answered. "He's a beaut, isn't he?"

"Certainly a very handsome man,"
I replied. "What does he do?"

"Oh, he's a sport; deals faro for the house. Say, order something to drink," she demanded abruptly. Having been expecting the request, I signaled the waiter.

"You don't belong in this country?"
she asked, as she set down her glass.

"No, I'm a tenderfoot," I replied.

"I thought so." She sat silent for a considerable time, then turned to me with a natural, cheerful smile, and said: "Would you like to hear a story, one which is to end to-night?"

"Why, des," I answered, and having rolled two cigarettes, I lighted the one I kept. She began a word of prelude.

"Ten years ago I was living in the Ohio valley, a girl of 16, and if my mirror had not told me that I was handsome, the attention of a score of the young men of the village would have, and now that I look back I know I was, with plump figure, brown hair full of shades of gold, and a clear, ruddy skin. Robust health gave to me overflowing animal spirits—they called me Tomboy," she laughed.

"My life had been wholly uneventful up to the time I was 16, and no doubt I would have lived and died there, a staid matron, had not George Seymour come into my life. He was but four years older than I was, and a handsome man you never saw. Tall, dark, with eyes which fascinated and held me as the serpent is said to hold the bird. He had a deep, melodious voice, which thrilled my unsophisticated heart to its very depths.

"Among the young women of the little town in which I lived there was great rivalry for the attentions of the handsome young stranger who, while he did no work, had an abundance of money, sang nicely, accompanied himself on the guitar, and was as polite as a politician seeking nomination. He attended church, and in a short time was a general favorite."

As she talked a rollicking cowboy song, sung in fine voice and seconded by guitar music, came to us over the babel of voices and the clinking of glasses. The woman shut her lips hard as she listened.

"It's Tyrone singing," she said, then returned to her story. "A girl may buy a man's attentions," she said, with averted face, "as I learned, and I—I bought his." Then she laughed recklessly. "You know the story, it is as old as time," forcing herself to look me squarely in the eyes.
"Well, I bought his, neither caring nor knowing of the morrow, for I was a verdant country girl who knew nothing of the world, and I took his counterfeit coin for pure gold. Well, he shall get it back, with interest—compound interest," she muttered, smiling wolfishly, as she fondled something in the bosom of her dress.

"There came a time of tears for me,
of course," she continued, "for man-
like he was flattered with the attentions which were lavished on him;
however, I was quite well satisfied with the attentions he bestowed on me, believing the tales he told me, and I planned the home he promised me in the big, beautiful city I had never seen. Thus the days slipped by, and they were for me glimpses of paradise."

"The spring came, gloomy and cold,
and with it an end of my dreaming.
We had attended a social party in a neighboring town, and were returning, when the team we were driving went off a wrecked bridge, one which had been undermined by the spring floods.
I screamed when I felt myself falling, and the next instant found myself bosom deep in the cold, muddy water, held down by the buggy top, the horses struggling madly until they drowned and lay still. I had just realized my position, when in the black darkness I felt a hand clutch my neck and drag me down, when I knew that my lover was under the water at my side. I do not know how, with the dying horses wrenching the buggy about, and the water of the stream rushing over us that I got my head above the surface of the water; yet I did, he choking and almost suffocated, then with only his mouth and nose
clear I held his head in my arms, close against my bosom all the rest of that horrible blackness of night, and cold and storm, and feeling the drops on his face he begged me to raise him still higher, but my arms were powerless to move him. So the long, dreadful night passed, while I grew insensible from the cold, which froze my very heart, until in the gray of the morning we were rescued by a party that had set out to search for us so soon as it was known that we had not returned home.

When two weeks later I had about recovered from the effects of my terrible experience, George Seymour was gone, and from that day to this I have hunted him. I went to the city, only to find that he was unknown there, and after living, some way, for several months, I started on a further search, and since then I have gone from city to city and state to state. Baby died when it was a few months old, and that made it easier for me to travel, and at last, in this God-forsaken place—" She looked off across the room, over the heads of the people, to where the handsome man was singing a ribald song, his swarthy beauty enhanced by deep potations—"I found George Seymour, alias Bill Tyrone, and . . ." She drew the covering from her bosom, when I saw a Spanish stiletto, the pearl handle of which was but a shade whiter than the soft flesh on which it lay.

Again she motioned to the waiter.
"Make it whisky this time, Jim," she ordered. "Here's a toast," she said, when our glasses were before us.
"Here's to a man, the best and meanest thing on earth next to a bad woman. Drink!"

The obsequies of Bill Tyrone were very largely attended, as he was the most popular faro dealer Clifton had ever known.

Ways of Japanese Merchants.

Curious ways the Japanese merchant has of doing business. A special agent of the United States government who is now in Japan gives some illustrations. The buyer, he says, makes no payment until the arrival of the goods. If in the meantime the market has dropped, the Japanese will often go to the American and intimate that he is not prepared to stand all the loss and that the American should divide the loss with him, though to do so might wipe out all the profit on the transaction.

Vanderbilts on New York Central.
Three of the younger generation of the Vanderbilt family are serving the New York Central. Alfred G. Vanderbilt has his desk in the financial department, Cornelius finds his greatest interest in the shop and construction department, and is said to know a railroad from the roadbed up. His cousin, William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., has combined both the financial and practical training.

Woman Suffragist Bill.

That women shall be independent of men even to the point of having a specific trademark is the purpose of a German suffragist, who has designed a suffrage stamp. Every communication sent out from suffrage headquarters in the German empire bears the suffragists' stamp. It shows a woman holding aloft broken fetters, while behind her the sun rises.

Owens Historic Telescope.

Lord Rosse is a man of scholarly and scientific attainments and is the owner of the historic telescope at Birr castle, whose construction by his father was one of the romances of science, the total cost of construction being more than $100,000.

PRODDED HIS MEMORY.

Little Tommy Helped His Mother Out to Her Mortification.

Mr. Urban was always late to dinner. He arrived home on a certain evening, as usual, 20 minutes behindhand. His wife was entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Fortune. Greeting the guests with effusive cordiality he said:
"If I had known this pleasure was in store for me, I should certainly have arranged my business so as to be at home earlier."

"Why, Harry," sighed his wife; "I told you."

"I beg your pardon, love; but you are certainly mistaken this time. You probably forgot to mention it. On the whole, I'm glad you did. It is a delightful surprise."

Mrs. Urban was a spirited woman.
This unjust accusation came near overthrowing her courtesy. Her lips parted, then shut decisively; but a slight frown lingered on her forehead.

Little Tommy read her face. He knew all about his father's poor memory, and he felt it his duty to refresh
it and defend his mother.

"Why, pap," he piped up, "don't you recollect? Mamma told you to be sure to come home early to-night because the Fortunes were going to be here, and you said: 'Oh, the devil!'"
—Philadelphia Record.

VALUE OF SELF-RELIANCE.

Better Than "Easy Money," Says
Charles G. Dawes.

This is a hard world in business. It always has been, and always will be.
There are many good and generous men in it. There are many who will lend a helping hand to you in your adversity, but in the time of need you will not find them among the men who tried to get you to embark in speculation with your little surplus and to sell you something which would help you to "easy money."

Be self-reliant. Make your own investigation in investments. When you cannot, put your money in a good savings bank. Distrust the financial demagogue as you distrust the political demagogue. Keep your hand on your pocketbook as you travel through life
—first, to give always in proportion to your means to those who are poorer;
second, to hold from those who would take through force or fraud what you need for yourself and yours. You will then, writes Mr. Dawes, in the Saturday Evening Post, have your hand where most of the other fellows have only their eyes. In this alone you will have the advantage of them.

Courage.

Gen. H. M. Robert in an address in Philadelphia said that it was impossible for a woman to love a man without courage—that to the coward woman's love was denied.

"Men know this," Gen. Robert ap-ended afterward, "and therefore the slightest imputation on their courage is felt horribly. The mind magnifies it till it becomes as great a slur as—as—"

"But let me tell you a story.
"A city man went hunting. After he had banded away for some hours without success two boys who had been following him approached and the older said:

"Say, mister, if you're out for sport and ain't afraid to pay for it, my brother'll let you shoot at him for two hours for a quarter."

Hot-Weather Refuge.

Rev. E. W. Webber, a Maine minister, who was located for a while in a Georgia town as pastor of a Universalist church, occasionally relates this story:

He was talking with William Dodson, ex-president of the Georgia senate.

"I suppose you feel the heat greatly down here in the summer, don't you?"
queried Mr. Webber of the southern man.

"Well, it does get pretty warm here sometimes," admitted Mr. Dodson,
"but every time I feel too warm I think of the visit I once made to Boston, and it sends the cold shivers all over me."—Boston Record.

Life a Childish Pleasure.

A wealthy woman with diamonds up to her knuckles was telling of a man she knew who was going abroad on a cattle steamer.

"He is going for his health," she said. "He is very delicate, but he is so poor. Why should a man who has no health endeavor to preserve the little he has? With no money to make life agreeable and so little life left in his body, why should he keep on wanting to live?"

One of her listening friends who is not particularly encumbered with this world's goods, spoke up: "I suppose he takes a sort of childish pleasure in
it. Most of us do."

Poet in Training.

"Did you beat the carpet, dear?"
"I did," replied the poet.
"And the stovepipe—have you taken it down?"

"I have."
"That's a dear! Now go and dig in the garden for exercise, and then you may go to your garret and write love songs for groceries!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Tommy's Discovery.

A little city boy out in the suburbs for the first time remarked as he looked out of the window in the morning and saw numberless dandelions
on the lawn:

"Oh, mamma, just look—the grass is all covered with fleckles!"

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER,

THE STOMACH.

C. E. POWELL.

My but peoples' stomachs do cause a lot of trouble. I offered to wager some doctors in St. Paul, Minn., that one half of all sickness is caused by the stomach. After I assured them that my medicine did nothing but put the stomach in shape and they had spent a day listening to what people who called on me had to say, they had to agree with me. They heard people come in and tell me that for years they had been near the grave with Bright's disease, or lung trouble, or kidney complaint and all manner of diseases and that the New Discovery had cured them. Of course these people were mistaken, it was nothing but their stomachs. As a matter of fact when the stomach gives out most everything else is thrown out of order too.

When a person feels tired and dull and despondent, is losing flesh and don't sleep well, has a poor memory, a bad taste in the mouth, a coated tongue, and other troubles he's liable to believe a lot of things are the matter with him. Nine chances to one it's his stomach. I've seen Cooper's New Discovery bring back health to too many people in just this shape to believe anything else. Here's a letter about it:

"I suffered for a long time without knowing just what was the matter with me. I seldom felt like eating. I lost greatly in weight. My digestion was extremely poor and when I did eat I invariably suffered afterward. I was constipated and frequently suffered from nerve racking, violent headaches. When I heard of what the Cooper remedies were doing for others I resolved to try them."

"Relief came with the first bottle. My appetite and digestion improved rapidly. I am no longer constipated nor do I have those dreadful headaches. I sleep well and am gaining flesh." C. H. Powell, 13 Harrison Addition, Duluth, Minn.

We are selling immense quantities of these medicines and our customers express great satisfaction.

READ THIS G.W. Weaver & Son vs. Mail Order Houses

We believe that the majority of people of this community who order goods from the mail order or catalogue houses, do so because they believe that they are unable to get the same goods or as good goods for the same prices at their own home stores, and not simply to exercise a privilege.

We believe that no one who orders from a catalogue house, such goods as dry goods, carpets, rugs, or anything we show in our great stock has investigated the resources of our stock and gotten our prices, and we therefore advise, and in fact insist, that any article in our line priced in a catalogue, be compared with goods in our stock. Goods that you can see, put your handson and on which we pay the freight. We also invite comparison of qualities as only good goods find place with us.

We solicit the trade of our community entirely on the merits of our goods—and not because we have an investment of fifty to sixty thousand dollars in dry goods—not because as citizens we have to help to pay for roads and public schools or because we contribute to public enterprises or public necessities of this community, but because we have studied your wants. We have the goods and stand ready to "show them" before you buy.

We also want to point out the fact that if for any reason anything bought from us proves unsatisfactory we are here where your claim can be adjusted without red tape.

If tempted to order therefore look us up first, look at the goods, get the prices (add your freight) see where your advantage lies

South Mountain Oil and Development Company

A Corporation Organized to Search for Oil, Gas, Copper and Other Minerals on Large Tract of Land in

Hamiltonban Twp., Adams Co., Pa.

Holdings of Company Consist of 1786 Acres

Located 3 Miles Above Orrtanna

Oil is the greatest and surest fortune maker the world has ever known. An oil company gets the product from the ground at an expense of about 5 cents per barrel and oil today is worth about $1.75 per barrel.

Robt. Rawlins, an oil expert, after examining the Adams County tract said, "I observed a scum on the surface of the water. It reflected the color of petroleum. A paper spread on the surface of the water where this scum appeared would burn while still wet. The paper must have absorbed oil. A bottle containing a little oil collected from certain springs certainly contained petroleum. I found several of the springs and streams contained gas, this gas I recognized as similar to what I have found in oil fields. Many oil fields of the world have been located by the appearance of oil on the surface of the water. And I believe that there is a subterranean oil strata."

Capital of the Company is 100,000 shares at $5 per share. Only a limited amount of stock is being offered, just enough for development purposes. A quantity of this stock has been sold in Connecticut and other distant points.

Work Has Begun

15,000 feet of lumber is ready for the first derrick. Contract for drilling is closed. Machinery is arriving and it is a matter of days until the drill begins on its voyage of discovery. Preparations have been made to go down about 3,000 feet.

Many Adams County people have invested their money far from home and sometimes lost it.

Here is a chance to spend money to help discover the natural resources of the country and if the drill opens up fortunes you can have the satisfaction of not only having aided in the development of the home county but also enjoying a share in what is found.

A small amount of the capital stock is offered to Adams County people at $3 a share, par value $5, for a limited period.
